Good Day Mr. Barak,

Hope all is well. I'm here in Israel and have reached out to your daughter to catch up while in town. I hope to grab a coffee with her next week.

As I know your time is extremely valuable, I will be as brief as possible - I'm considering returning to Israel and am seeking al high-level operations position that would allow me to do so, preferably in the hotel industry (although I'd be open to others as well).

I was an Ivy league undergrad, have worked for AIPAC, was a lone soldier in Tzanchanim, completed my Masters at Tel Aviv University and am currently on track to become one of the youngest NYC General Managers in my hotel company's history.

I realize that you are exceptionally busy, but any council, insight or direction you could provide would be greatly appreciated.

My resume is attached here, and again, I wish you and your family the best. If anything, I hope to have the pleasure of hosting you again at the Park Lane Hotel in the near future.

In Hospitality,

Avi Yesawich
